FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEW MUDSLIDE CLOSES ALL LANES OF TOPANGA CANYON BOULEVARD (STATE ROUTE 27) NEAR PACIFIC COAST HIGHWAY

Los Angeles – The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) is reporting that a new mudslide caused by the recent rainstorms, has closed all lanes of northbound and southbound Topanga Canyon Boulevard (State Route 27) approximately 200 yards north of Pacific Coast Highway. Power lines have also been damaged from the mudslide.

Access to Topanga Canyon Boulevard can be achieved from the northern portion of the road near U. S. 101.

Duration of this closure is unknown at this time.
